HyTech Professionals named Microsoft Gold Certified Partner

Signaling the coming of age for a formidable independent software vendor with global reach.

Nashua, New Hampshire (July 8, 2008) HyTech Professionals is pleased to announce its selection by Microsoft as a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner. This accomplishment caps a 12-month run of organic growth and new business gains in every one of five Programming Excellence Centers worldwide. The employee-owned HyTech has seen its optimism completely justified by the exemplary performance and realized value of applications fashioned and deployed for the most demanding of American and European clients.

In simple mid-day ceremonies today marking the official award as Gold Certified Partner, President Neeraj Varshney pronounced himself eminently gratified both by the recognition and the esprit d' corps that had gone into winning the appointment: "Buoyed by support from management, our systems engineers invested a great deal of their time to try and make Microsoft Gold Certified Professional status. And I'm especially proud of all the Microsoft solutions teams here and abroad for pulling together to make the accreditation happen."

To qualify for this coveted designation, Hytech Professionals underwent months of arduous scrutiny by Microsoft. The company had to show consistently superior results on key technologies supported by the software giant. Clients also needed to attest to technical excellence in critical new technologies that included Microsoft Office SharePoint Server, Commerce Server, Windows Mobile, and being able to specialize in the mission-critical requirements of small business as well.

Mr. Damnish Kumar, Chief Technology Officer at www.hytechpro.com said, "We continue our excellence with one milestone at a time towards ensuring customer satisfaction and technology excellence."

"It's especially important for Hytech Professionals customers to notice that we have been awarded Microsoft Solutions Competencies in multiple areas including SOA and Business Process Competency, Mobility Solutions, Data Management Solutions and Business Intelligence Solutions." Said Mr. Kumar

About HyTech Professionals

HyTech Professionals is a leader in the global independent software developer industry. It has been named among the top three "Exciting Emerging Companies to Work For" by India's NASSCOM. Offering independent software design and implementation to businesses and organizations of all sizes, HyTech Professionals is also among the very few companies of its kind operating in an ISO 9001:2000 quality managed environment. Five global locations, provide robust Web 2.0 applications, local industry insight, tight lead times and cost-effective services to some of the emerging and known companies in the technology startup, financial services, retail, transport services, gaming, e-commerce, and health care sectors.

PR CONTACT:
YVON NOEL DECANGCHON
HyTech Professionals
Phone: (888) 683 8281 (toll-free)
Fax: (801) 991 3740
Email: media@hytechpro.com